MUST-DO AT THE RESORT

Bike ride
If you’re looking for something to do that’s a little more energetic than lounging by the pool, then why not venture off the beaten track and explore the local surroundings with a leisurely bicycle ride. This route will take you through the local jungle on a quiet track well away from local traffic to end up on a stretch of deserted beach.

Natural Living Pepper
Phu Quoc is renowned for its spicy, fragrant pepper and we its highly nutritious, antioxidant properties in our signature spa treatment with massages using a warming, custom-blended black pepper oil. Our home-grown peppers are also used in the Freshly Ground Pepper Scrub combined with naturally healing turmeric for a full body polish.

Kayaking
If you’re feeling adventurous then set sail, or paddle, in one of the resort’s kayaks and venture along the coast or up the river. Although possibly a little strenuous in the noon day sun, there is plenty of opportunity to stop and take a dip if you get a little hot. Don’t forget to take plenty of refreshments with you!

MUST-SEE IN PHU QUOC

Pepper Farm Tour
Phu Quoc lays claim to stunning beaches, majestic sunsets, pungent fish sauce and some of the world’s most fragrant pepper with tall, green vines seen in plantations all over the island. While tours can be booked to visit local pepper farms, many farmers are happy to welcome visitors, show them around and sell some of their multi-coloured pepper.

Bee Farm Tour
Sweet, sticky, organic honey is a favourite for many, spread on a slice of fresh bread or poured into a cup of tea or a glass of fruit juice. The island’s honey farm showcases a carefully designed ecosystem that encourages long-term benefits for pollinators such as bees and butterflies, and helps researchers and students develop their skills and knowledge.

Day trip to the starfish beach on the north of the island
Starfish beach, as the name suggests, is home to a large number of these tiny creatures which can be seen on the fine white sand just below the surface of crystal clear waters. Only recently discovered by tourists, the palm lined beach is also home to some of the island’s floating seafood restaurants which have been attracting locals for many years.
MUST-EAT IN PHU QUOC

Seafood at Ham Ninh village on the east coast of the island

Ham Ninh village is on the east coast of the island and one of Phu Quoc’s oldest fishing villages, still steeped in its traditional culture and offering a rare glimpse at a life that will soon disappear as the island continues to develop. The seafood here is delicious and the local speciality is freshly boiled crab meat.

Seafood at Rach Vem, eat on a stilt restaurant on the water

Rach Vem is a unique floating village by starfish beach and home to some wonderful seafood restaurants perched offshore on wooden stilts and accessible by long wooden walkways. The restaurants keep their fresh fish in netted enclosures and guests can choose the type of seafood they’d like for their dinner. The views are spectacular at sunset.

Night Market

Dining options are affordable and varied at Dinh Cau night market and in the evening the market comes alive with locals and visitors looking for a street food style Vietnamese feast. As to be expected, much on offer is seafood, but vegetarians or those looking for more of a choice will also find plenty of options on offer.

MUST-DRINK IN PHU QUOC

The Rabbit Hole Irish Bar

You’ll find an Irish pub in most of the world’s corners, including a tropical island off the coast of Vietnam, and expect to receive the same warm welcome here as you would in the Emerald Isle itself. The bar will serve you a glass of the only Guinness on the island, and some fine Irish whiskeys.

Coco Bar

Tropical islands are home to quintessential beach bars all over the world with a relaxed, chilled vibe, a dog or two running around, great grub served generously, and glasses of ice cold beer and signature cocktails. This bar has all that as well as a pool table, shisha pipes and some excellent home-made rum to top it off.

Golden Sand Bar

Open early morning this is a place to come for breakfast and stay for the day. Right on the beach, the bar has a relaxed vibe that encourages chilling, with hammocks and swings to help you get in the mood. The drinks are reasonably priced, and the food menu is excellent, and if you’re feeling adventurous there are jet skis for rent.
